EXCITEMENT [illegible]—Some time since a warrant was placed in the hands of J. G. Clinger, then acting sheriff, for [illegible] commonly known as Charley. He [illegible] and went up the Sound. On Monday [illegible] came on shore from the ship [illegible], which was at anchor in the harbor. While cruising about the town he was [illegible] by Mr Clinger, who gave chase, assisted by others. Charley rushed [illegible] wharf, jumped into the Custom House boat, and paddled out into the harbor. The Shubrick's [illegible] at the end of the wharf taking a wood [illegible]. Lieut. Com. Wilson ordered the gig [illegible] and putting arms on board set it upon the [illegible]. As the gig came alongside, Charley stopped paddling, took a look at the crew and the opposite end of his boat and dived into the bay. He struck out bravely, but getting weary, [illegible] into the boat. After being disarmed of his sheath knife he was given in charge to Mr. Clinger, who aided him in wringing the water from his garments. While thus engaged, Charley sitting down near the edge of the wharf without [illegible] some friend of his came up and drawing a knife from his pocket, went through some motions which attracted the attention of Clinger and all the lookers on. While attention was thus diverted, a plunge was heard. The prisoner had turned a back hand spring from the wharf and was swimming boldly [illegible]. He was soon on board [illegible], where he lay in the stern sheets holding [illegible] over his head as if expecting a shot, and was thus rowed out to his ship. Deputy Sheriff Parrish subsequently went on board and searched the vessel, but [illegible] a lumber [illegible] stack, and Charley is [illegible] on his way to Buenos Ayres.—N. [illegible]

HOW THE RICHMOND [illegible] FEEL.—Dr. Oliver, a native of Wisconsin, but lately a resident of the South, was pressed into the Medical Department of the rebel army subsequent to the battle of Bull Run. He was in Richmond for the past two months, and has lately arrived in Washington. He says:

The greatest depression, he observed, was produced by the intelligence that President Lincoln had called out 300,000 additional troops. The opinion prevailed that if these troops would be promptly furnished the rebel game would be ended. They have exhausted their resources for soldiers, and would be unable to contend against a fresh army of that size. Their only hope is that this call will not be promptly responded to by volunteers, but that there will be sufficient delay to afford an opportunity for foreign intervention before they are forced to give up.

A banquet was recently given to General Rosseau, of Kentucky, by the Union men of Louisville. The General showed clearly enough that he is not a conditional Union man." He said:—"This rebellion is a lie from the beginning. There was never any cause for it. To begin and keep it up a system of wholesale lying was adopted, and is pursued industriously to this day. It is the only stock in trade they have. They could teach the devil himself much he never knew before about lying.

A Memphis correspondent writes:—On last Friday evening, a well dressed and genteel looking woman—said to be the wife of an officer in the Confederate army—deliberately walked up to a soldier of one of the Indiana regiments, who was on duty at the wharf boat, and spat in his face. A number of persons were present and witnessed the disgraceful act. The soldier looked at the "lady" for a moment, and with the simple remark, "You are very polite, madame," [illegible] removed to another part of his boat."

The old town of Sterling, M[illegible], on the St. Francis river, has been nearly washed away in the recent flood—dwellings, streets, graveyard, and everything. The stream has made for itself a new mouth into the Mississippi.

Advices from Naples speak of a fresh eruption of Mount Vesuvius. The mountain is throwing out lava towards Pompeii, and ashes on the Portici side.

Four thousand dollars worth of gold was taken from one claim in the Nova Scotia gold region in one day, recently.

A Word of Caution

A friend writing us from Puget Sound [illegible] der late date, informs us that the ex-Collector Adair has become a citizen of British Columbia and a subject of the Crown of England, and that he holds a very important political position in that British Colony. His son John Adair, who deserted from the United States Army, is Commander-in-Chief of a small force of British troops, and between the two they control considerable influence and dangerous power in that recent province. Another secesh member of the family, a distant relative, known as Butler P. Anderson, a brother of one J. Patton Anderson, once elected Delegate to Congress from Washington Territory, who deserted his best friends and proved false to the whole people of the Territory by going on to Washington drawing the salary of Delegate without ever doing the least good for the Territory, and then deserted his post, went to Florida, and we believe now holds a high military position in the rebel army; while this same [illegible] Butler for a time remained at Astoria with his uncle, then Collector Adair, busted up there, went to Olympia, hummed around that place for a while, then went to Texas, edited a rebel pro-slavery country paper for a short time, got "played out," returned to Olympia again, set himself up in the practice of law, eked out a miserable existence for a short time until the rebellion broke out, when he tried to get somebody to loan him a thousand dollars that he might return to Texas and join the rebel army, but failing in this as also in not prevailing upon somebody to take him out of the country or blow what little brains he had out of his thick skull, concluded at last to go to British Columbia, swearing that he would not live in such a Black Republican Government as this any longer, where he now is, and God knows we hope he will forever remain. But what we desire is to caution the good people of that Colony against trusting these worthies out of their sight or with any important influential position among them. For so sure as a favorable opportunity occurs they will undertake to get up an insurrection and, if possible, cause the Colony to secede from the British Crown, and set up an independent dy-nasty of their own. Old Adair, we understand, is loud in his denunciation of the American Government—the old hypocrite and black-hearted traitor. After he had feasted and fattened upon the Government patronage until he had become surfeited with good living, and could no longer encumber the nation with his insatiate desires, slinks off to a foreign nation and swears allegiance to the crown in order to still possess himself of an easy living, then turns around and damns the country which gave him birth and made him what he is or ought to be—such a being deserves the execration of all decent and honest people of every nation, and should be closely watched wherever he goes. The toadies who follow his example are no better. Citizens of British Columbia, look out for these traitors. They have proved themselves false to us, so they will to you whenever opportunity offers.

Wrong

Some few days ago we noticed in the secesh paper here some remarks in reference to Sergeant Thompson, of Major Eugenbeel's company, now stationed at Vancouver. It was in the form of a complaint that Sergeant Thompson had not been made a commissioned officer in the regiment of Washington Volunteers.

It being a settled principle with us that merit should always receive its reward, and that the faithful and competent soldier should always be in the line of promotion, we made some enquiries in relation to this matter. We found that Sergeant Thompson had been in the service some seventeen years; that he has served his country faithfully—that he is a man of good habits and good principles, and would do credit to a higher position. We do not think that any man who knows him will question the justness of these remarks.

We have further learned that there has been a desire to relieve him from his present position and to make him Captain of one of the companies [illegible] by Colonel Steinberger. We do not know why this has not been effected. He is a valuable and useful non-commissioned officer where he is, but we do not believe that for that reason a commission has been withheld from him. Nor do we believe that it has been withheld from him because he is a Democrat, as is stated by the paper in question; but we think that the neglect complained of has grown out of the fact that the mission has not been properly represented [illegible] who have the power to [illegible]

The secesh paper to which we have referred [illegible] attention, says that Sergeant Thompson is understood to be a [illegible]. Does that paper [illegible] say that the worthy Sergeant sympathizes [illegible] with the traitors of [illegible]? Does Sergeant Thompson pray that the arms of the [illegible] shall be paralyzed? Does he say that he who [illegible] the success of the [illegible] a traitor? If such be the truth, [illegible] Washington Volunteers. We have good reasons for believing that such imputations are false; that Sergeant Thompson is of the class of Democrats who nobly take sides with their country in the effort made by traitors to destroy the Government, and that [illegible] imputations [illegible] sympathizes with traitors [illegible] falsely [illegible] false.

From Eugene City

EUGENE CITY, Aug. 1[illegible]

ED. OREGONIAN:—On Sunday afternoon a shocking and fatal accident occurred about one mile from town. A large company of ladies and young men had gone to the river to bathe, and in coming out of the water, one of the company, named Henry Neil, [illegible] was in the rear of his horse before mounting, his horse [illegible] and he to have struck him a slight blow on the hip, upon which the horse sprang and kicked him, inflicting a terrible wound on the forehead and right temple, completely crushing in the skull, from which he died in ten minutes. The funeral took place yesterday at the Masonic burying ground, a large number of sympathizing friends attending with the afflicted family and relatives. The deceased was a nephew of [illegible] S. B[illegible], an old resident of this place.

Last week Mrs. Elizabeth [illegible] Ash[illegible] died at this place, after a short but very severe illness. She had been the wife of Mr. Ash[illegible] but about ten months, and was formerly Mrs. Sovrins, and a resident of Portland. She will be recollected by many of your readers as having been at one time prominently before your Courts, together with her then husband, their litigation resulting in a divorce. I am told that in her last hours she referred to that portion of her life, and persisted in asseverating that she had been unjustly condemned upon that occasion by public sentiment.

I was glad to discover in your [illegible] on the subject of a State Agricultural College, but does that conclude your lucubrations on the subject? It looks as though it was very important that some steps be taken at the coming session of the Legislature. As to the location question there will surely be no lack of offers. I venture to say that a suitable tract of land can be obtained in the vicinity of this town, and possibly the Columbia College building, a large stone edifice, which is now unoccupied, might be obtained.

COMUS.

Late Eastern News

The Sacramento Union of the 14th gives the following summary of Eastern news:

Our dispatches from the East bring up the war news to the 13th of August. The increase of public confidence resulting from the extraordinary energy of the Government is reflected in the latest report of the money market at New York. While the premium upon gold had declined, United States Sixes of '81 were 99¼—nearly approaching par—and Treasury Seven and three-tenth notes had ascended to 104¾.

Volunteering under the first call of the President had been so satisfactory that a large number of the regiments raised will soon be in the field. The draft for the second three hundred thousand is to be rigidly enforced. The orders issued are of a character to defeat all efforts at evasion. The writ of habeas corpus is suspended in all cases of arrest of persons charged with disloyalty or attempting to evade the operation of the militia draft. Of course there is a commotion among rebel sympathizers in the loyal States. The stringency of the War Department is rather heavy on the "conservatives." In the border slave States, the effect of guerrilla depredations and the militia draft is to compel men to choose their position for or against the Government. The alternative is fighting Unionism or fighting treason.

In Missouri the guerrillas have been severely handled in several encounters. In Arkansas the bands of marauders have gained some [illegible] advantages by attacking small detachments guarding supply trains. The peculiar institution suffers during the prevalence of this style of warfare. As the loyalists are now mustering everywhere in overwhelming force, extermination is likely to be the doom of rebels who persist in disturbing the peace of the border States.

The military situation in Virginia, so far as we are able to discern by the light of the dispatches received, is more satisfactory than it has been at any time since the opening of the campaign. The battle below Culpepper Court House on Saturday, August 9th, [illegible] characterized as one of the most desperate contests of the war.

Jackson and Ewell had a heavy and greatly superior force, with the purpose of crushing Banks' corps, and so cutting off Pope's army, so as to prevent a speedy advance on Gordonsville. But through the heroism of Banks the effort was baffled, and the prompt arrival of reinforcements placing the contending armies upon a more equal footing, threw Jackson upon the defensive. On the 11th Pope had concentrated a formidable army and was prepared to advance to the attack. But in the meantime the rebel Generals had received tidings of the successful expedition sent by Burnside to cut the Virginia Central Railroad at Fredericksburg, and after [illegible] sending a flag of truce as a ruse, [illegible] skedaddled. On the 12th the enemy had fled across the Rapidan, pursued by Pope's cavalry and light artillery, and burning bridges to save his army. It is doubtful whether Jackson will make another stand north of Gordonsville. Banks has temporarily yielded the command of his corps to General Williams, in consequence of injuries received during the [illegible] fight. [illegible] will have charge of the advance. The latest advices from McClellan assure us that important movements are progressing on the south side of the James. The demonstration toward Malvern Hill seems to have been [illegible]. Returned prisoners report that the talk of the rebel army [illegible] on the [illegible] side of the river preparing to meet McClellan's advance in that direction. From Cumberland Gap we have a dispatch announcing that a portion of General Morgan's forces fought two severe engagements, in [illegible] which the enemy, though superior in numbers, suffered a loss of 125 killed and wounded and a large quantity of stores.

From England we have a bit of good news. British ship-owners having complained to Earl Russell that their vessels were captured by Federal cruisers, were flatly told that the cruisers were doing their duty, and the neutrality proclamation should be observed.

ARRIVAL.—The Eliza arrived at an early hour yesterday evening from the Cascades, bringing down a goodly number of passengers, and a small amount of dust, though there was no connection of Express through from the Dalles. We are indebted to [illegible] Wells, Fargo & Co. for a copy of a late [illegible], items from which will be found in another column.

THE WRONG HORSE.—We heard yesterday that a merchant of McMinnville came down to the city on Tuesday last, on horseback, put his horse up in one of the livery stables in the city, remained over night, transacted his business, and quite early next morning, called for his horse, mounted and started on his return home. While crossing at Taylor's [illegible], thirteen miles from the city, the [illegible] remarked to him—"You have been [illegible] horses while down at the city." "No," [illegible] he, "I have not." "Why," says the [illegible], "that's not the horse you rode to Portland." Whereupon the merchant dismounted, took a good look at the animal, and to his astonishment, when he perceived the hostler at the stable had saddled up [illegible] man's horse, and that he had ridden [illegible] some thirteen miles without discovering the mistake. The merchant immediately hired a man to return to the city with the horse and bring back the right one.

CITY COUNCIL met last evening, President [illegible] in the Chair—Present, Messrs. Brock, [illegible], Hallock, Holmes, Silvers, Walling and [illegible]. Considerable discussion was had [illegible] resolution to pay $25 for hauling can[illegible] to the Public Square and then down [illegible] the Fourth of July last, and upon [illegible] vote the resolution was lost.

[illegible] ordinance for planking Front Street [illegible] to Pine Streets was lost upon its [illegible]

[illegible]lution was passed requiring the City [illegible] to hoist the city flag upon its appro[illegible] staff, each and every Sunday, the [illegible] permitting, and upon national holi[illegible] such other appropriate occasions as required.

[illegible] was requested to make re[illegible] tax list at next meeting of the [illegible]

[illegible] being late, we were obliged to [illegible] and hence cannot report any further at [illegible] It was quite a windy session.

"THE ROUGHS."—We have noticed several [illegible] cases leisurely perambulating [illegible] for the last several days, appar[illegible] engaged in taking observations of men [illegible] watching for a good chance to [illegible] something and make a "raise." We [illegible] our citizens to be on their [illegible] as these suspicious, sinister-looking [illegible] forebode no good. We have al[illegible] heard of two cases wherein respectable [illegible] were abruptly accosted in the street [illegible] going home late at night. How[illegible] the "roughs" very wisely [illegible] it was not best to press their busi[illegible] than a little sharp talk [illegible] the meeting.

[illegible] AND PRIVATE SCHOOL.—It is a mat[illegible] pride to us to witness the [illegible]ance of the youth of our city at [illegible] schools and places of public in[illegible] throughout the city. Although the [illegible] and Female Seminary is [illegible] for a few weeks, still, when [illegible] with the several other schools in [illegible] believe there will scarcely be [illegible] in the city seen running idle [illegible] 'Tis well; let it be so re[illegible]

[illegible]PHIC DISPATCHES.—We received [illegible] dispatches in a very unintel[illegible] last evening, having been writ[illegible] a very dim pencil, rendering many [illegible] beyond the power of our best [illegible] to read it. If Mr. Bassett can't [illegible], or has no better pencil at his [illegible], we would respectfully suggest that [illegible] does not attempt it again or send us [illegible] we will send him a few of "Fa[illegible]"

From the Upper Columbia and the Mines.

[illegible] DAY MINES.—Mr. Brents, express[illegible] gives the Mountaineer of the 20th the [illegible] from the John Day mines:

[illegible] & Co., at Canyon City, took out of their claim $307. Pay dirt on the bed [illegible] four and six feet thick. On the 11th [illegible] men with one rocker took out 18 5-16 [illegible] half a day. The week previous [illegible] took out $800, and in one day $235.

On Rich Gulch, Powers, McDonald & Co., working three men with sluices, took out on [illegible] of last week, $49 98. Their claim [illegible] about $15 per day to the hand.

The Trenton company, six men, near Canyon City, on the 12th, after a little stripping [illegible] previous, took out $115.

About 150 men are working on Dixie [illegible] Canyon city, on the opposite side of the river. They report good "pros[illegible]" Those at work with sluices are making from $5 to $10 per day to the hand.

The miners on Canyon Creek are working at a [illegible] disadvantage, owing to the lack of capital and scarcity of lumber. Every thing goes to show the richness of this creek, and as soon as it is flumed and scientifically worked, great results may be counted upon. Supplies continue scarce. A train got in on Sunday, the 14th, and sold out all they had by Monday morning. There is a great scarcity of flour, and an invoice of the articles in demand would command a ready sale.

PEN D'OREILLE MINES.—A gentleman just in from Colville informs us that about fifty men have been working in the Pen d'Oreille mines, during the summer, and that they have been doing very well. No rich strikes are reported, but those who have worked make fair wages. From the same authority we learn that the Columbia river mines are "paying out" handsomely, and that an in[illegible] confidence is felt in the richness of the mines. Quite a number of Chinamen are at work. The Johns are found to be good customers to the traders, and much of the prejudice that existed against Chinamen is dying away.

DIED.

In this city, Aug. 20th, 1862, George Cree, youngest son of William and Dorothea Sherlock, aged ten months. The funeral will take place at their residence to-day at four o'clock P. M.

SEWING MACHINES ARE UNEQUALLED BY ANY FOR BEAUTY AND SIMPLICITY OF CONSTRUCTION
—AND—
Efficiency in Working.

A GOOD SEWING MACHINE

SHOULD BE WELL MADE, simple in its construction, and easily kept in order; it should make a TIGHT LOCK-STITCH, alike on both sides of the material, and should sew any and all materials that can be sewed.

It should be able to use cotton, thread, or silk directly from the spool, and to sew from coarse to fine, and from thick to thin, with rapidity, and without changing the tension. It should also be able to make the tension greater or less, on both the under and upper threads, and with uniformity, and should have a straight needle; curved ones being liable to break.

The needle should have perpendicular motion; this is absolutely necessary for heavy work.

It should be able to bind with a binder, hem with a hemmer, should stitch, fell, tuck and gather, and should be always ready to work.

It should be capable of using the same size thread on both sides of the work, and of using different colored thread or silk above or below, to correspond with any two colors of cloth to be united.

It should be able to make a long or short stitch, and to fasten off the seam and commence sewing tightly at the first stitch, and to run easily, and make but little noise.

It should have a wheel feed, one that is in constant contact with the work.

It should not be liable to get out of order; neither should it require a screw driver or wrench to set the needle.

It should not be liable to soil the operator's dress.

It should not form a ridge on the under side, nor ravel.

DR. BAKER'S PAIN PANACEA.

Is composed entirely of healing gums, and vegetable oil and herbs. It is perfectly safe for the most delicate to use. I can most sincerely say that I have never known any, however delicate, to be injured by it in the least. I will continue to ask the afflicted, who have not used it, to try it for the following diseases. If they are not satisfied with its healing properties, the money will be cheerfully refunded by the agent where the medicine is for sale.

If you have pain in the stomach or bowels, try a dose of Pain Panacea internally, bathe externally over the parts affected, and you will at once restore the proper action and relieve the pain.

If you have a Bruise or Wound, bathe it well with the Pain Panacea four times a day. It will relieve the pain, and take out all the poison, and heal the wound in a short time.

If you are suffering from Neuralgia or Rheumatic Pains, apply the Pain Panacea freely, and take a dose of it internally, morning, noon and night; it will not only cure the pain, but will remove the cause of the disease.

If you have the Dyspepsia, and your food distresses your stomach after eating, take a dose of Pain Panacea after each meal.

If you have a Cankered or Sore Mouth or Throat, apply the Pain Panacea to the affected parts, and gargle the mouth or throat three or four times a day.

If you have the Diarrhœa, or a relaxed state of the bowels, take a dose of Pain Panacea, and they will soon be restored. If you have a painful swelling, bathe the parts freely, and you will soon relieve pain, and the swelling will be reduced.

If you have a severe tooth ache, apply the Pain Panacea on a piece of cotton and bathe the gums at the same time; it will stop the pain instantly.

If you have a pain in the Breast, Side, Back or Kidneys, bathe the parts affected morning and night, at the same time take a dose of the Panacea internally.

If a Mother has a caked breast, apply the Panacea as hot as it can be borne.

If you feel chilly or cold, as though you were going to have a fever, take a dose of Panacea.

If you have a wound, cut, or galls upon your horse, apply the Pain Panacea; it will take out all the inflammation and heal the sore in a short time.

Layering Carnations.

August is the proper time for layering carnations, also roses, and most all shrubs can be propagated by layering. To do it successfully, loosen the ground well around the plants and scrape it away about two inches deep, have little hooks or pegs cut about four inches long; now take of carnations the grassy slips, cut off its top square, then make a cut with a small sharp knife one-half inch long in the under part through the middle of the stem, put the peg on close to the cut next the roots and press it into the ground firmly, this is necessary, it sears the rooting; put earth back and over it. Keep it watered during the dry season and by fall you will have fine plants. If you have too many, exchange with your neighbors or the florist who may not have your colors and so get new flowers. A few trials will soon give aptness in the art of layering. If roses or shrubs are to be layered, the well matured wood of this year's growth must be selected and then treated as carnations.

A word about manure. No good bed of flowers can be had without the ground is rich and loose, and to accomplish this it requires good decomposed manure. Fresh horse manure is the last of the fertilizers we would choose, it is burning and drying and often, if too thickly put on and not thoroughly mixed with the earth, death to plants; it was intended to do good, and so we get discouraged about raising flowers. I will therefore give a receipt for a compost for a flower-bed: Have the oldest manure you can get hauled in a corner of your garden, next get an equal amount or more of the top spit of the virgin soil of the woods—sandy is the best—and a load or two of black muck from the swamp lands—which is the very best manure for flowers—and if your land is clayey, a barrel of lime from the gas factory; now mix the whole well together and make a square flat heap of it; let it catch all the rain, all the soap suds and waste water, and ashes and all, mix the heap once or twice just for exercise, and by fall or spring you will have a feeder that will astonish you and your flowers.

H. MILLER.

From the Oregon Farmer.

Rye.

In the last issue of the FARMER we noticed some specimens of rye which had been left in our office. This rye was sown on a light, gravelly loam, and it is estimated that the field from which it was taken will average full thirty bushels to the acre. On the same soil a crop of wheat would not have averaged near that amount.

We believe there are many portions of this State where wheat is raised with but indifferent yields, that would give much more valuable returns if sown to rye. The latter grain does not require so rich soil as the former. Where the soil is so poor and light as to yield but poor returns if sown to wheat, good and abundant harvests of rye may be gathered. And when we remember that there is but little difference as regards the nutritious qualities of the two grains—those of rye being to those of wheat as 64 to 71—we wonder that more of this grain has not been sown on soil so well adapted to its growth as many portions of Oregon.

Besides being raised for its grain, it has been sown in the States for green feed in autumn and spring. And European authors mention a variety of this grain called St. John's Day Rye, because it grows so rapidly that if sown on that day (the 24th of June) it will be fit to mow green by the middle of September, and then after furnishing feed for sheep in the fall and spring, it will give a good crop of grain for the next harvest. If this variety could be introduced here, it would be most valuable. We believe, as our State increases in population and as farms become subdivided, and the necessity of soiling our stock is forced upon us during the latter part of summer, that rye will be extensively introduced as a soiling crop.

Rye will also command a good market for the purposes of distillation, and we could wish that this grain would become generally raised if it would produce no other benefit than that of promoting the domestic manufacture of pure spirits, and thereby save a vast drain of money from our midst, in return for which we receive adulterated and poisonous liquors.

WHY DON'T THEY COME UP TO THE "STANDARD?"—In passing among flour dealers in this city, we find that flour from the "Standard Mills" brings in market one dollar on the barrel more than that of any other brand—with the exception of the Champoeg mill, which many consumers think fully equal to the first named. Surely at this rate machinery would soon pay for itself. Think of it, millers—one dollar advance on each barrel of flour made by your mills! How many dollars would that be in your pockets in a year?

☞ The Multnomah County Agricultural Society will hold an Agricultural Fair in Portland, on Thursday and Friday, October 23d and 24th.

WAR VERSUS INDUSTRY.—It has been repeatedly remarked by those who are conversant with the facts, that since the breaking out of the war, agriculture has been favored with very few inventions. The genius of the whole nation seems to be turned to the furtherance of the war, new common hand arms, gunboats, &c., being almost the only things applying for patents. The truth is, Peace and War, like good and evil, are incompatible. If one would advance, the other must stand still.

A Washington letter gives the following account of the process of embalming adopted there: "The body is placed on an inclined platform, the mouth, ears, nose, &c., are stopped with cotton; if wounded, cotton is put in the wound, and a plaster is put on. An incision is made in the wrist, the attachment is made from an air pump, and fluid injected throughout the arteries. The wound is then sewed up and the body is hoisted up to dry. To save the eyes from sinking in, wax is put under the eyelids. The hair is found to come out very easy, but after the embalming it could not be removed. The bodies take, on an average, about seven quarts, but Gen. Lander's took seventeen quarts. There were some eight bodies on hand, and some had been thirty days. The operators say in four months the body will become solidified like marble, but no chance has yet been had to prove it. Col. Baker's body on arriving at San Francisco was in an advanced state of decomposition. Dr. Holmes, late of Williamsburgh, L. I., is the oldest in the business here, and I am informed he has made $30,000." The charges are $50 for an officer and $25 for a private, and the bodies look lifelike, as if they were asleep.

CHIVALRY.—An army fighting correspondent, describing the first days fighting after the retreat from the Chickahominy, says:

In the early part of the day one of our men captured a rebel knapsack, hung to which was half a skull, used evidently as a drinking vessel. An inscription upon it stated that it came from Bull Run.
